UlrichPlanfile

The Ulrich Planfile, with its unique design and attention to detail was originally patented in 1915. Since then, the Planfile has evolved to become simply the best large document filing system available. Here's why...

- Planfiles hold more documents in less space than any other filing system, saving valuable floor space.
- Because Planfiles are high capacity, they actually cost less per sheet than other filing systems.
- Planfiles feature a unique spring compression system and heavy duty reinforced folders that can be customized to provide filing for different sized documents in one cabinet.
- With its standard lock, double steel walls and fire resistant insulation, Planfiles offer a level of protection that no other system can match.
- Planfiles come equipped with heavy duty, removable casters for complete mobility.
- All filing is done at waist height, making Planfiles very easy to use.
- Planfiles can hold maps, engineering plottings, architectural drawings, or any large documents.

There is also an economical version of the Planfile called the Planfile 2. It has most of the great features of the original Planfile, with a lower price and single wall construction for applications where fire resistancy is not required.
